

CACHE-Sponsored Conferences

The CACHE newsletter traditionally includes information about CACHE-sponsored conferences to be held in the near future. However, all of these conferences are on multi-year cycle, usually held every 3-5 years, and no CACHE-sponsored meetings will be held in 2020. Furthermore, due to the impact of COVID-19, CACHE has decided to not sponsor major conferences in 2021 and instead delay some of the conferences that were planned. The current schedule for CACHE sponsored conferences in the next few years is as follows:

- FOMMS was originally scheduled for July 2021 and will be rescheduled to Summer 2022 at the same location (Delavan, Wisconsin). The exact dates have not been finalized, but the intent is to look at mid-July.
- FOSBE was also originally scheduled for Fall 2021 and has been rescheduled to 2022. Exact dates and location are still under discussion.
- FOCAPD/CPC was originally scheduled for January 2022 in San Antonio, Texas, and will be rescheduled to January 2023. The current plan is to stay at the same site, but this is still under negotiation.
- The next FOPAM has not yet been formally announced, but the current plan is to have another FOPAM and to schedule it for Summer 2023.
- The next FOCAPD is currently scheduled for Summer 2024.

Please note that this reflects the current planning and that changes are possible, due to the current situation, but also because conference organization hinges on many other factors which cannot always be predicted years in advance.
